Certificate in US Residential Mortgage Underwriting

Mortgage underwriting in the United States is the process a lender uses to determine if the risk of offering a mortgage loan to a particular borrower under certain parameters is acceptable. Most of the risks and terms that underwriters consider fall under the three C's of underwriting: credit, capacity and collateral.

Why should one take Residential Mortgage Underwriting certification?

This Course is intended for professionals and graduates wanting to excel in their chosen areas. It is also well suited for those who are already working and would like to take certification for further career progression.

Who will benefit from taking Residential Mortgage Underwriting certification?

Professionals and executives looking to find employment in underwriting departments of various insurance and mortgage companies, students generally wanting to improve their skill set and make their CV stronger and existing employees looking for a better role can prove their employers the value of their skills through this certification.
